Meeting Room Booking Rules

ADM-ROOM-402 | Version 1.0 | Owner: Office Admin | Reviewed: 18 October 2026

FICTIONAL COMPANY DATA - FOR DOCUMENT UPLOAD TESTING

Manage internal meeting-room bookings at the fictional Sentral Ops office. These rules allocate a room; they do not authorise visitor entry or confirm attendance.

Cedar room	Up to 6 people; display screen and whiteboard
Orchid room	Up to 10 people; display screen and video-call equipment
Standard booking	Up to 120 minutes, within 09:00 to 17:00 on working days
Late check-in	Release the room after 10 minutes without check-in

Making a booking

- Use the shared room calendar. Enter the organiser, meeting purpose, attendee count, room, start time, and end time. Book no more than seven working days ahead.
- Choose a room with enough capacity. Do not exceed the listed capacity or use a room that is already booked.
- A booking longer than 120 minutes requires written Office Admin approval. The organiser must record the approval reference in the calendar entry.

Starting and ending the meeting

- The organiser checks in at the booked start time. If nobody checks in within 10 minutes, Office Admin may release the remaining slot for another booking.
- Finish within the booked slot. Remove personal items, erase the whiteboard, return the furniture, and report faulty equipment to Office Admin.
- Cancel a room booking as soon as the meeting is no longer needed. A cancelled meeting does not cancel an external visitor registration; notify Office Admin separately.

External guests and boundaries

- External guests must follow ADM-VIS-101, Visitor Registration and Office Access. Room operating hours and visitor-access hours are separate rules.
- A confirmed room booking does not approve a visit outside normal visitor hours. Obtain the required visitor exception separately before confirming arrangements with the guest.
- The assistant can explain capacities, timing, and procedures. It cannot create a calendar booking, confirm real-time availability, or approve an exception.
